Directors and officers cover

Our directors and officers cover includes cover for the entity itself, and aims to prevent directors and officers from having to sell their personal assets to pay defence costs.

Employment practices liability

Our policy includes broad cover for the entity, directors and officers, management personnel, and employees for claims made by employees or third parties. We can also include cover for wage and hour violations, immigration investigations and costs following a workplace violence event.

Executive reputation protection

Innovative coverage protecting senior executive officers against reputational harm, including adverse events that have caused damage to their reputation, standing or status. Our policy includes access to our reputation management specialists.

Executive cyber

CFC's cyber coverage is specially designed to address a broad range of risks facing senior executive officers and board of directors, from incident response costs, extortion and social engineering cover, to post claim monitoring services. CFC has over 20 years' experience insuring businesses against cyber risk.

Crime cover

Our crime cover includes company crime such as employee theft, funds transfer fraud, credit card and currency fraud. It also includes client crime, and on premises and off premises theft.
